

Curriculum vitae Prof. Dr. Philipp Khaitovich

Personal Data

- Born November 1973 in Moscow, Russia
- Nationality: Russia

Current research interests

- Molecular mechanisms of human brain evolution
- Human metabolome and lipidome features
- Evolution of human longevity
- General principles of molecular evolution

Professional Experience

- 1999 - 2000 Postdoctoral research associate at the University of Illinois at Chicago, Chicago, USA
- 2000 - 2006 Postdoctoral researcher at the Max-Planck-Institute for Evolutionary Anthropology, Leipzig, Germany
- 2006 - 2012 Max Planck Group Leader at PICB, Shanghai, China.
- 2012 - now Director at PICB, Shanghai, China.
- 2013 - now Professor at ShanghaiTech University, Shanghai, China.
- 2013 - now Max Planck Society Fellow at Max Planck Institute for Evolutionary Anthropology. Leipzig, Germany.

Education

- 1990 - 1994 Bachelor of Science (BSc) in Molecular Biology at Moscow State University. Moscow, Russia
- 1995 - 1999 Doctor of Philosophy (PhD) in Biology at University of Illinois at Chicago (UIC). Chicago, USA.

Honors, Awards

- 2012 International Cooperation Award for Young Scientists awarded by the Chinese Academy of Sciences
- 2012 Foreign Expert 1000 Talents Program Award, Chinese Government
- 2012 State Specially Recruited Experts awarded by the Organization Department of the Central Committee of the CPC
- 2013 International Science and Technology Cooperation Award, the Shanghai Science and Technology committee
- 2013 Shanghai Magnolia Silver Award, Shanghai Municipal Government
- 2013 Friendship Award, the People's Republic of China's highest award for foreign experts

Scientific Activities

- Member of the editorial board of eLife, BMC Genomics, PLoS Biology

Publications

<http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pubmed?term=khaitovich%20p>